DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group II in the reply filed on 4/28/2009 is acknowledged.

Priority

The later-filed application must be an application for a patent for an invention which is also disclosed in the prior application (the parent or original nonprovisional application or provisional application). The disclosure of the invention in the parent application and in the later-filed application must be sufficient to comply with the requirements of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 USPQ2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

The disclosure of the prior-filed application, Application No. 10/670,618 and 60/413,351, fails to provide adequate support or enablement in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 for one or more claims of this application. There is no support in the prior filed application for the limitations of claims 47 and 48 which are drawn to a method of monitoring comprising the use of magnetic fields and eddy currents. As such, these limitations will only be given priority to the filing date of the current application (3/24/2004).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 34-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 34 includes the limitation "the applicator of the device of claim 1." However, claim 1 is drawn to a nonelected species and thus the limitation is indefinite. For the purpose of examination, Examiner has taken under consideration claim 34 to include the structural limitations of nonelected claim 1, however, Applicant is required to clarify this limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 34-46, and 49-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Miller et al (US 2003/0208235).

Miller et al disclose a method comprising the steps of contacting a tissue with an applicator actuated by a driving means (paragraph [0087] – the application of an abrasive material driven by mechanical means) which is performed in conjunction with the iontophoresis; dispensing a pharmaceutical while altering the tissue (paragraph [0072-0074]); monitoring electrical current between an active and return electrode; applying electrically conductive fluid interface between the electrode and the tissue (paragraphs [0048-0050]); and controlling the device via a microprocessor in a controller (paragraph [0063]).

3. Claims 34-42, and 47-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Handy et al (US 2003/0032995).

Handy et al disclose a method comprising the steps of contacting a tissue with an applicator (900a) actuated by a driving means (paragraph [0127] – a solenoid); dispensing a pharmaceutical while altering the tissue (paragraph [0082]); generating and monitoring eddy currents to control the device via a microprocessor in a controller (paragraph [0066]).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 34-46 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of copending Application No. 12/321885 and claims 1 and 34-37 of copending Application No. 10/670618. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the each disclose methods of treating tissue comprising the steps of contacting the tissue with an actuated applicator and monitoring an electrical property of the tissue during treatment.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
